Islam And Social Change In French West Africa History Of An Emancipatory Community African Studies

Exploring the history and religious community of a group of Muslim Sufi mystics who came largely from socially marginal backgrounds in colonial French West Africa, this study shows the relationship between religious, social, and economic change in the region. It highlights the role that intellectuals – including not only elite men, but also women, slaves, and the poor – played in shaping social and economic change. The study examines the role of intellectuals, including not only elite men, but also women, slaves, and the poor, in shaping social and economic change in the region. It also explores the role of Sufi mysticism in the development of religious and social movements in the region.
History and religious community of a group of Muslim Sufi mystics in colonial French West Africa this study shows the relationship between religious social and economic change in the region. It highlights the role that intellectuals played in shaping social and cultural change and illuminates the specific religious ideas and Islam and Social Change in French West Africa. History of Exploring the history and religious community of a group of Muslim Sufi mystics who came largely from socially marginal backgrounds in colonial French West Africa this study shows the relationship between religious social and economic change in the region.

ISLAM AND SOCIAL CHANGE IN FRENCH WEST AFRICA HISTORY OF AN EMANCIPATORY COMMUNITY AFRICAN STUDIES

Author: Dennis Eichmann

